IT GIVES ALMOST INSTANT EFFECT.

The whole system needs new strength to make up for the Vitality used up by the effort, your body makes to purify itself every spring. It needs Nerve Force quickly—for it is only from this strength of the inner nerves that the organs of the body get the power to do their work and to keep in good condition.

Tired, weak, run down, nervous women -- thousands of them in homes, offices, stores and factories-dragging out their lives in poor health and low spirits, subject to grip, colds and headaches, can trace the beginning of their general de-cline back to the spring lassitude that got its hold upon them, and never was shaken off.

The Idol's Eye.

"The Idel's Eye," a comic opera, was twice presented at the Bijou Theatre yesterday-afternoon and evening-by the Bijou Opera Company. The opera is brimful of lively music and the most tuneful of airs. The bulk of the work falls on two men-Abel Conn and Jamie Mc-Snuffy. Conn is an aeronaut, who "drops in" just in time to save Jamie from drowning. Jamie is a vagabond, and in his wanderings he appropriates the eye of love of the chief idol of the Province of Jabalpur. It is a ruby of immense value, and its possessor is the object of affection of all the maidens of the province. The eye of love finds its way to the pockets of Conn, and at once Jamie is shunned and scorned by the damsels. The eye of hate is secured and falls into the possession of Conn, who, in turn, is an aversion of the girls. He trades the eye off, and again wins the "drops in" just in time to save Jamie turn, is an aversion of the girls. He trades the eye oft, and again wins the love of the prettiest girls in the province. The music, incidental to the presentation of the play, is snappy and full of vim. The chorus shows wonderful improvement, while one song, "A Fairy Tale," was embred no less than five times. The costumes and scenery are all new and pretty, and the members of the

Dr. Evans Says Man's Material Body Will Not Rise Again, As Many Believe.

SPEAKS ON RESURRECTION

Quotes Words of Apostle, That What Is Sown a Natural Body Is Raised a Spiritual Body.

A sermon preached to an immense congregation Sunday afternoon by the Rev. William E. Evans, D. D., rector of Monimental Episcopal Church, cuts deep at the root of the popular religious tenets that the soul of man is at the last day reunited with his material body, which is supposed to arise from the grave.

Almost from time immemorial it ha been the sacred and cherished belief of millions of Christians that upon the great day of judgment, when all men living and dead would be called before the seat of heaven, the body of men would come up out of the earth clothed in the perfection of flesh and blood with which it was born into the world. How this was to be when the ashes of many unclent dead had long ago been scattered to the four winds, no man ventured to say, but the belief was at one time almost or quite universal, and is now widespread. It is this doctrine which Dr. Evans attacks, and against which he cited the Bible

Suffers From Superstition.

In beginning his sermon Dr. Evans declared that the Christian religion suffers more from the supersitions of some of its adherents than from anything else The day was Easter and the "Resurrec-The day was Easter and the "Resurrection" his theme, and he directed this remark to some of the beliefs held upon this subject. He expressed amazement that so many believed the exact opposite of what the Bible taught, and thought it ungodly to believe otherwise. The dea of the resurrection of the material body is, he declared, repulsive to the imagination, and insulting to the intelligence of men. telligence of men.

the imagination, and insulting to the intelligence of men.

The body of man, when it is not cremated or otherwise reduced at once to its component elements, is buried and becomes in time a part of the soil and of the fruit thereof. A seed sends forth a shoot that grows into a tree, and into that tree, from the soil where he was buried, a part of man's graver self has gone. The tree is felled and hewn, and in the course of time appears in the structure of a house. How can this man's material and physical hody be called back—the dust from the earth, the gases that are borne away on the wind, the part that is in the tree and the other part that is in the tree and the other part that is in the level and the other part that is in the part that is in the part that such a thing can happen, and, said Dr. Evans, it will not happen.

What the Resurrection Means.

What the Resurrection Means.

What the Resurrection Means.
The resurrection means, therefore, not the reinstatement of the flesh, which perishes, but the raising up of a spiritual self that is incorruptible and indestructible. Dr. Evans expressed surprise that Christians should believe otherwise. He was preaching from a text in the epistle of the Apostle Paul to the Corinthians, and he said that the teaching of the great saint was directly opposed to the great saint was directly opposed to the idea of the resurrection of the body. Ye many, incomprehensible as it might seem took this very epistle to proclaim what it was endeavoring to disclaim—the res-toration of the flesh. Paul preached that toration of the flesh. Paul preached that the body of man was sown corruptible and was raised spiritual and incorrupti-ble, yet many Christians believed other-wise. Dr. Evans read the words: "But some man will say, How are the dead raised up? and with what body do they come?"

"Thou fool, that which thou sowest is not quickgred except it die.

"And that which thou sowest is not quickened except it die.

"And that which thou sowest, thou sowest not that body that shall be but bare grain, it may chance of wheat, or of some other grain;

"But God giveth it a body as it both pleased Him, and to every seed his own body."

ody. "So also is the resurrection. It is sown n corruption, it is raised in incorrup-

"It is sown in dishonor; it is raised in "It is sown a natural body; it is raised spiritual body."

Is a Mystery.

Is a Mystery.

How this wonderful change from a natural to a spiritual body is made the apostle. Dr. Evans said, does not tell. It is a mystery. He drew-comfort from the assertion that while the body of man, oftentimes deformed and misshapen, is thus left behind, his soul is unchanged. The one that was loved hore will be there the same. On the other hand, the man whose life upon this earth was not according to the Lord would be similarly unchanged when he appeared before the judgment sent. Dr. Evans drew his lessons from the concluding words of the apostle:

"Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, for as much as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord."

THE STRIKE OF HOD-CARRIERS

Contractors Agree to Employ Non-Union Men and to Deny Demands of the Strikers.

The building contractors of Richmond have agreed to engage non-union labor at once and to deny absolutely the demands of the striking hod-carrieds who ask five cents additional per hour

The carriers, all of whom are negroes, abandoned work last week and have not returned since. They have been working eight hours for $1.60 and new demand $2. eight hours for $1.60 and now demand $2. Several of the contractors have been employing non-union labor of this sort for some time, and the fresh call has driven all the others in the same direction. The contractors declare that they will probably all be at work to-day with outside labor and certainly within the next day or two. The hod-carrier is, moreover, somewhat of an obsolete article. On all of the higher buildings bricks are cievale; by engines, and it is possimic to use this method altogether. Such a machine has been creeted at the new Peth Ahaba Tyn Tigue and the work there will proceed without interruption.

Uncle Sam, in the person of ten government officials, is always in charge of every department of our distillery. During the entire process of distillation, after the whiskey is stored in barrels in our warehouses, during the seven years it remains there, from the very grain we buy to the whiskey you get, Uncle Sam is constantly on the watch. We dare not take a gallon of our own whiskey from our own warehouse unless he says it's all right.
